

Last night “La Gazzetta Ufficiale” has published “I stay home”, a decree law by the Prime Minister’s Office, enforced from today to April 3.

Rules are enforced all over Italy:

- 1) All public gatherings are strictly banned in public places or places open to the public.
- 2) All events and sport competitions are called off, except for closed doors international ones.
- 3) Practicing sport outdoor is permitted, on the condition that, always and in any case, people keep 1-meter distance.
- 4) All movements of people (goods are exempted) must be avoided other than “for documented work needs, emergencies, or health reasons.” Going back home is permitted.
- 5) Whoever has a body temperature higher than 37.5 °C is “strongly recommended” to stay home.
- 6) Who is in quarantine must stay home.
- 7) Companies should facilitate their employees with vacations or work leaves.
- 8) All ski resorts are closed.
- 9) All events – included cultural, recreational, sport, religious, and trade-fair events – are called off.
- 10) All activities in child-care centers, schools, and universities are called off.
- 11) All civil and religious ceremonies, funerals included, are called off.
- 12) Activities in bars and restaurants are permitted from 6 a.m. to 6 p.m., on the condition that, always and in any case, people remain at 1-meter distance.
- 13) All other commercial activities are permitted, on the condition that, always and in any case, people keep 1-meter distance.
- 14) At the weekend medium and big stores (such as shopping malls, supermarkets, and markets) will be closed.
- 15) All activities at gyms, sport centers, swimming pools, spas and health resorts, recreational and community centers are called off.
- 16) All driving license exams at Provincial Motor Vehicles Offices are called off.

Translation by Anna Bissanti

Source: La Repubblica