The war in Ukraine: actors, developments and stakes

4 Marzo 2022, ORE 17.30 - Evento online su Teams

Chair: Sonia Lucarelli. Participants: Prof. Filippo Andreatta, Prof.ssa Michela Ceccorulli, Prof. Marco Puleri del Dipartimento di Scienze Politiche e Sociali.

The war in Ukraine is a watershed event in recent European history. The stakes have never been so high since the Cold war's confrontation between the superpowers. Several aspects of the crisis that led to the war and of the ongoing conflict need to be explored and understood in a multidisciplinary perspective. For this reason, the University of Bologna, in collaboration with the Master on East European and Eurasian Studies (MIREES) has organized a roundtable aimed at exploring the dynamics that have led to Russia's decision to attack Ukraine, the developments of the attack, the actors at play, the reaction of the international community and the repercussions for Europe and for the world.
