Brighton Fuse Report

Investigation into the impact of arts education and innovation on the Brighton digital cluster

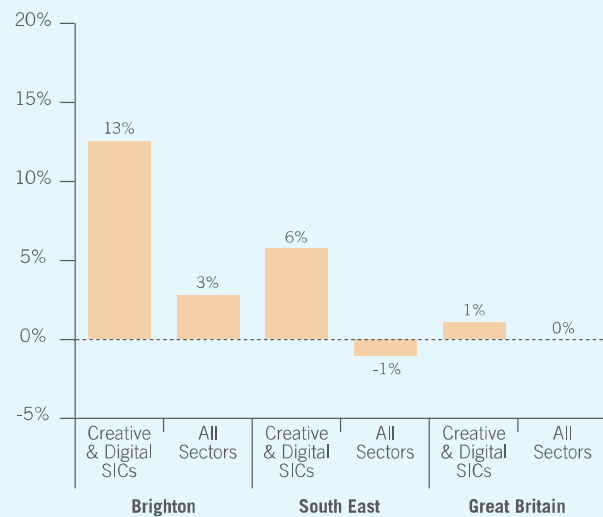

Brighton is a smallish seaside town south of London

Companies, which ‘fuse’ creativity with technologies, have grown almost twice as fast as other companies in the same regions

In 2013 in the UK as a whole, ‘creative occupations’ ‘comprised 9.7% of the UK economy – more than construction, advanced manufacturing or financial services. Its workforce grew at four times the speed of the UK economy overall between 2004 and 2010.’

Impact in the REF

Dual Research funding in the UK

RCUK

Research Councils offer grants to distribute money to universities. The competitions are about £3 bn is available each year (AHRC, BBSRC, EPSRC, ESRC, MRC, NERC, STFC)

REF

Public money distributed to universities (about £1.6 bn per year) via a once-every-seven-years competition

Allocation of research funds

For the first time in REF 2014 research impact was included as part of the assessment process

Impact is defined as 'any effect on, change or benefit to the economy, society, culture, public policy or services, health, the environment or quality of life, beyond academia'

c£200m pa year of QR funding will depend on the impact assessment

With the Kings Policy Institute: Analysis of the cases studies to inform research policy

Topic modelling:

identify hidden thematic structures or topics in corpus of documents

Keyword in context:

identify keywords displayed within surrounding context

Information extraction:

automate extraction of specific words (nouns) such as countries

Qualitative analysis:

read and hand-code samples of case studies
