

Joanna Sondel-Cedarmas is an Associate Professor of Contemporary History at the University La Sapienza in Rome. In 2005 she got her PhD in humanities from the Institute of Political Sciences and International Relations of the Jagiellonian University. In 2014, she obtained a title of an associate professor of politics from the Faculty of International and Political Studies of the Jagiellonian University. Her research interests include Nationalism, Fascism, and the Far Right, as well as memory of totalitarianism and authoritarianism. In the course of her academic career she has participated in several international research project focusing on the memory of totalitarianism and authoritarianism, memory cultures in Europe, and post-totalitarian societies. Among her recent works are: Le ombre del passato. Italia e Polonia di fronte alla memoria della Shoah (Viella 2018, edited with Francesco Berti and Filippo Focardi), The Right-Wing Critique of Europe (Routledge 2022, edited with Francesco Berti), Post-totalitarian societies in transformation: from systemic change into European integration (Peter Lang 2022, edited with Elżbieta M. Mach and Grzegorz Pożarlik) and Storia dell'integrazione europea (Guerini Scientifica 2022, with Umberto Morelli).