Summary

I assist entrepreneurs, companies and startups in the internationalisation and innovation phases, business aspects which I am acquainted with since my postgraduate LL.M. degree in Innovation, Technology and the Law at the University of Edinburgh in 2006.

I am currently involved in blockchain-related projects and ICOs. I also advise established companies and digital startups in the legal aspects of new technologies, commercial contracts, M&A deals and corporate matters including international corporate structures, due diligence, open innovation deals, e-commerce and app development.

My experience is both as an outside legal counsel and in-house lawyer.

I am Co-Organizer of Legal Hackers Torino, the first Italian chapter of the global movements of lawyers and innovators that deals with the most pressing issues at the intersection of law and technology.
