

"Nato in barca", come i marinai veneziani amano descriversi, Giovanni Pellegrini è un regista, direttore della fotografia e produttore nato a Venezia nel 1981. Prima di diplomarsi in regia del documentario alla Scuola Nazionale di Cinematografia Italiana nel 2012, Pellegrini ha studiato storia della navigazione e ha lavorato come guida naturalistica nella laguna di Venezia. I suoi documentari sono stati presentati e premiati in festival internazionali tra cui il Festival del Film di Locarno, le Giornate degli Autori di Venezia, l'HRFF di San Sebastian, l'EFFA di Melbourne, Visioni

Italiane di Bologna ed Euganea Film Festival.

Attualmente Giovanni Pellegrini vive e lavora a Venezia, città alla quale ha dedicato i suoi ultimi 3 documentari: "Aquagrande in crescendo" (Giornate degli autori 2017), "La città delle sirene" (Torino Cinemambiente 2021), "Lagunaria" (Cinemambiente 2023).

"Born in a boat", as Venetian sailors use to describe themselves, Giovanni Pellegrini is an Italian director, DOP and producer born in Venice in 1981. Before graduating in documentary filmmaking at the Centro Sperimentale di Cinematografia in 2012, Pellegrini worked as a naturalistic guide in the Venetian lagoon.

His documentaries have been screened and awarded at numerous international festivals such as the Locarno Film Festival, the Human Rights Film Festival in San Sebastian, the EFA in Melbourne, the Visioni Italiane in Bologna, the Euganea Film Festival and the Cetri Awards at the Senate of the Italian Republic.

He currently lives and works in Venice, a city to which he has dedicated his last 3 films: "Aquagrande in crescendo" (Venice Days 2017), "City of sirens" (Torino Cinemambiente 2021), "Lagunaria" (MAFF, AWFF, 2022).
