

Carmen Hassoun Abou Jaoudé

Dr. Carmen Hassoun Abou Jaoudé is a political scientist and associate researcher at the Center for the Study of the Modern Arab World at Saint-Joseph University of Beirut where she teaches transitional justice with a focus on the issue of the missing in Lebanon. She is also a lecturer at the American University of Beirut and the Holy Spirit University of Kaslik in Lebanon. She worked with the International Center for Transitional Justice (ICTJ) where she served as Head of its program and as Head of its office in Lebanon between 2011 and 2015. She managed at ICTJ a multiyear project entitled "Lebanon: Addressing the Legacy of Conflict in a Divided Society" and overviewed its reports and policy recommendations issued in 2014 by a consortium of Lebanese civil society actors, Confronting the Legacy of Political Violence in Lebanon : an Agenda for Change. She was between 2016 and 2022 an active Board member of the NGO Act for the Disappeared. She is member of The National Commission for the Missing and Forcibly Disappeared in Lebanon since July 2020.

She holds a PhD and MA in political sciences from the University of Montpellier in France and a BA in journalism from the Lebanese University. Her fields of research include Lebanon post-war memory, the issue of the missing people and transitional justice. She co-produced in 2023 a documentary on gravesites in Lebanon "The Soil and the Sea" directed by Daniele Rugo.

Her latest publications include "Marginal memories of Lebanon's civil war: challenging hegemonic narratives in a small town in North Metn", co-authored with Daniele Rugo. Journal of the British Academy, June 2021 9(s3), 11. She co-edited a special issue Lebanon: The civil war in retrospect and authored an article "The opportunities and challenges of transitional justice in Lebanon: The centrality of the issue of the disappeared or The Chronicle of an Unfinished War", Confluences Méditerranée, vol. 112, no. 1, 2020, pp. 207-223.
