

Elizabeth Jelin.

Argentine social scientist engaged in research in the areas of human and citizenship rights, social inequalities, gender and the family, social movements, and memories of political repression.

Senior Researcher at the National Council of Scientific and Technical Research (CONICET) at CIS - IDES (Institute of Economic and Social Development) in Buenos Aires.

Member of academic boards of numerous scientific international institutions and visiting professor at universities in Europe and the Americas.

Recipient of the Konex Prize, the Bernardo Houssay National Prize for Research Trajectory in the Social Sciences granted by the Argentine government, and the CLACSO award. Doctor Honoris Causa at Université Paris Ouest, Nanterre – La Defense, Universidad de la República (Uruguay), Universidad Nacional de Mar del Plata and Universidad Nacional de San Luis (Argentina).

Author of books and articles. Among them, Los trabajos de la memoria (English edition: State Repression and the Labors of Memory), La lucha por el pasado. Cómo construimos la memoria social (English edition: The Struggle for the Past. How We Construct Social Memories), Entangled Global Inequalities: Conceptual Debates and Evidence from Latin America (co-edited with Renata Motta and Sergio Costa), Pan y afectos: la transformación de las familias, Cómo será el pasado. Una conversación sobre el giro memorial (with Ricard Vinyes), Podría ser yo. Los sectores populares en imagen y palabra (with Pablo Vila et. al., photographs by Alicia D'Amico. 2 volumes), ¿Qué hacemos con las cosas del pasado? Materialidades, memorias y lugares (con Ludmila da Silva Catela y Agustina Triquell).

In 2020 CLACSO published Las tramas del tiempo. Familia, género, memorias, derechos y movimientos sociales. Antología esencial (edited by Marcela Cerrutti, Ludmila Da Silva Catela and Sebastián Pereyra).