BRIEF PROFILE

- Historian by training, Frappi's expertise includes Energy security policies and energy competition in the Eurasian area; Foreign Policy of Turkey and Southern Caucasus Republics, with a particular focus on Azerbaijan; Security cooperation in the Wider Black Sea/Caspian areas. Over the last fifteen years he has been dealing with the above-mentioned topics in cooperation with both private think tanks and universities. He has authored two monographs on contemporary Azerbaijan and several articles published in academic journals. Moreover, since 2010 he is co-authoring the ISPI quarterly monitoring on Energy Security for Italian Parliament and Ministry of Foreign Affairs, dealing with Eurasian energy producer states' policies and strategies.

Carlo Frappi holds a Ph.D. in European History from University of Rome "La Sapienza" and a M.A. in Political Sciences with specialization in International Politics from the University of Perugia. Moreover, he has been completing a specialization course on "Democratization and Political Affairs" (2004) organized by the Austrian Study Center for Peace and Conflict Resolution and sponsored by Vienna Diplomatic Academy under OSCE patronage. Italian mother-tongue, he speaks fluently English and has a basic working knowledge of Turkish.
