

Dr Lara Klossek joined the EEAS as a desk officer and political advisor to the EU Special Envoy for Afghanistan in July 2021, where she is currently employed as a Seconded National Expert of the German government and German Centre for International Peace Operations (ZIF). Previously she has been teaching International Relations Theory at the Institute for International Studies (IBEI) Barcelona, where she also conducted her research in the fields of peacekeeping, security, international norms and gender. She obtained her PhD in International Relations at the Autonomous University of Barcelona, under a scholarship programme of the European Union. She is fluent in German and English, with a good command of French, Spanish, and elementary knowledge of Hindi and Nepali.