

Sara Pasqualetto | CV

- Bio Data: [REDACTED]
- Status: MA International Relations
- Fields: International Relations, Human Rights, Political Science, Climate Science
- Professional Experience: Project Management, Communication and Outreach

Summary

I graduated in International Relations from the University of Bremen, Germany (August 2017). I am specialized in human rights studies, with a strong background in political theory, climate science and corporate governance.

I developed skills in the management of big international research projects, with particular focus on communication and outreach aspects. I worked in different environments, from non-governmental organizations to academia, interacted with large communities spread across the globe, and established successful networks between centres and organisations. I specialised in communication and outreach activities, developing media strategies for international scientific projects and managing content, multimedia editing and press relations.
