PROJECTS

Investments and Survival in Late Medieval Cities
Wealthy and Poor, Public Institutions and Individuals in Italy

2022

Public credit institutions satisfied the demands of governments, business corporations, and merchants. However, these specific forms of financial assets were only of interest for the wealthier part of society. It is unknown to what extent the financial involvement of the private sector mattered, both within and outside from public credit institutions. The financial activities of (poor) households, families and firms will be analysed by bringing together private funding and public bodies, against the backdrop of different financial needs and their solutions
