

GIORGIA BORGNINO

PhD candidate at the University of Bologna and Radboud University, whose research interests include campaign manifestos and promises, parties, and elections, with experience in collecting and analysing large amounts of data.

EDUCATION

2019-Ongoing (Thesis
submission: Oct
2023)

PhD in Political Science

University of Bologna (Bologna, Italy)
Radboud University (Nijmegen, the Netherlands)

PhD thesis: “How Do Macro-Economic Conditions Affect the Party-Policy Relation? A Study of Pledge Fulfilment in Europe During Economic Crises”

Supervisor: Prof. Carolien van Ham

Co-supervisor: Prof. Paul Matthew Loveless

Double degree program co-sponsored by the University of Bologna and Radboud University

SSD: SPS/04-Political Science

2017-2019

Master's Degree with honours in Governmental studies

University of Turin (Turin, Italy)

Dissertation: “La realizzazione delle promesse elettorali e l’impatto della crisi economica: uno studio dei governi italiani tra il 2006 e il 2018”.

Supervisor: Prof. Giuliano Bobba

Co-supervisor: Prof. Antonella Seddone

2015-2019

Master's Degree in Comparative Political Science and Sociology

Institute of Political Studies (Bordeaux, France)

Major: Politics, Society, and Communication

Dissertation: "La réalisation des promesses électorales dans les gouvernements français et italiens: quels impacts de la crise de 2008?"

Supervisor: Prof. Isabelle Guinaudeau

Degree obtained as part of a double degree program between the University of Turin and the Institute of Political Studies, Bordeaux

2014-2017

Bachelor's Degree in International Relations

University of Turin (Turin, Italy)

Dissertation: "L'imprenditorialità nella migrazione cinese in Italia".

Supervisor: Prof. Matteo Migheli

PUBLICATIONS

Borgnino, G. (2022). Do Parties Still Shape Policies in Times of Crisis? The Impact of Financial Constraints on Partisan Policymaking in Italy (1996-2018). Party Politics. OnlineFirst.

<https://doi.org/10.1177/13540688221118466>

Borgnino, G. and Palma, N. (2023). Do Parties Adjust Their Policy Proposals to the Political Context? A Study of Election Promises During the 2022 Italian General Election. Italian Journal of Electoral Studies QOE – IJES. Just Accepted. <https://doi.org/10.36253/qoe-14603>

DATA

Dataset on the fulfilment of 2,412 Italian election promises published on the Harvard Dataverse (Borgnino, Giorgia, 2022, "Replication Data for: Policymaking Under Tough Economic Times: Parties, Policy Issues, and the Adoption of Programmatic Policies", Harvard Dataverse. <https://doi.org/10.7910/DVN/OOIDR3>)

Dataset on the 3,992 promises made by 8 Italian parties/coalitions for the 2022 general election on the Harvard Dataverse

(Borgnino, Giorgia; Palma, Nicola, 2023, "Replication data for the paper 'Do Parties Adjust Their Policy Proposals to the Political Context? A Study of Election Promises During the 2022 Italian General Election'", Harvard Dataverse, <https://doi.org/10.7910/DVN/E65448>)

CONFERENCE PAPERS AND PRESENTATIONS

Borgnino, G. (2023). Do Parties Keep their Promises in Times of Crisis? A Comparative Analysis. EPSA Annual Conference, 22-24 June 2023. University of Strathclyde, Glasgow (United Kingdom)

Borgnino, G. (2023). Did Parties Keep Their Promises After the Outbreak of the Great Recession? The Italian Case in a Comparative Perspective. PSA Annual International Conference, 3-5 April 2023. University of Liverpool, Liverpool (United Kingdom).

Borgnino, G. (2022). Parties, Policy Issues and the Adoption of Programmatic Policies in Times of Crisis: Italy 1996-2018. SISP Conference, 8-10 September 2022. La Sapienza, Rome (Italy).

Borgnino, G. (2022). Parties, Policy Issues and the Adoption of Programmatic Policies in Times of Crisis: Italy 1996-2018. ECPR General Conference, 22-26 August 2022. University of Innsbruck, Innsbruck (Austria).

Borgnino, G. (2022). Parties, Policy Issues and the Adoption of Programmatic Policies in Times of Crisis (Italy 1996-2018). Politicologenetmaal (Annual Political Science Workshops of the Low Countries), 16-17 June 2022. Radboud University, Nijmegen (the Netherlands).

Borgnino, G. (2021). Do Parties Keep Their Promises in Times of Crisis? The Impact of Macro-Economic Conditions on Partisan Policymaking in Italy (1996-2018). ECPR General Conference, 30 August-3 September 2021. Virtual Event.

Borgnino, G. (2021). Do Parties Keep Their Promises in Times of Crisis? The Impact of Macro-Economic Conditions on Partisan Policymaking in Italy (1996-2018). PSA ECN's Random Access Memories, 5-9 July 2021. Virtual Event.

OTHER ACTIVITIES

Panel chair for the panel 'Political Responses to Crises in Southern Europe: From the Economic Crisis to Catalonia and Covid'. ECPR General Conference, 22-26 August 2022. University of Innsbruck, Innsbruck (Austria).

ReSPoS Summer School on Causality in Policy Studies, 4-8 July 2022. Online.

ECPR Summer School on Theories and Methods in Party Politics, 2-7 August 2021. Aarhus (Denmark)

REVIEWING

Reviewer for a Special Issue published in the Contemporary Italian Politics journal.

SKILLS

Languages	Italian English French
Software	Stata R Studio Python (beginner) NVivo (beginner)