

Vincenzo Stanghellini, MD

PRESENT POSITION: Vincenzo Stanghellini is Professor of Medicine in the Department of Medical and Surgical Sciences at the University of Bologna, and Chair of Internal Medicine in the Department Digestive Diseases of the University Hospital St. Orsola–Malpighi of Bologna.

EXPERIENCE: Research Fellow (1981-1983) and Visiting Professor (1983-1985) at the Gastrointestinal Unit of the Mayo Clinic, Rochester, Minnesota. RESEARCH INTEREST:

Leading a successful group of investigators, his main research interests are represented by the pathophysiology of functional disorders of the GI tract, as well as diagnosis and treatment of functional digestive syndromes.

AWARDS and HONORS: The Master Award for Sustained Achievement in Digestive Sciences of the American Gastroenterological Association (2009). PUBLICATIONS: author of over 300 scientific publications on peer review journals. MEMBERSHIPS: United European Gastroenterological Federation (UEGF); European Society of Neurogastroenterology and Motility (former member of the Steering Committee); Italian Society of Internal Medicine (SIMI) (past-President of the Regional Committee), Italian Society of Gastroenterology (SIGE); Italian Society of Neurogastroenterology and Motility (SINGEM) (President). He is also Associate Editor, member of the Editorial Board and referee for many peer-review journals.